The Chicago Guide

Your definitive guide to Chicago

We anticipate ITW 2012 to be one of the most successful and memorable events you experience this year! Between the impressive list of attendees and a great host city, ITW 2012 promises great outcomes. To experience our “sweet home,” as a true Chicagoan, the Global Capacity team has compiled their favorite restaurants, lounges and activities to help you make your time in the Windy City special! To familiarize yourself with Chicago, please reference the map and sample some of our “favorites.” If this is your first time to Chicago or if you’ve been here many times, we hope you plan time to enjoy the activities that make this city so special. Should you find yourself in Chicago for an extended stay or a return trip, please contact us. We welcome the chance to share our city with you at any time!

Best Regards,
Patrick Shutt

Getting Around Chicago

On Foot

– Chicago's streets follow a grid pattern, intersected by a few major diagonal streets.
– The city's center is the intersection of State and Madison Streets (0 North, South, East and West).
– Addresses radiate outward and increase in increments of 100 per block.

Public Transportation

– The transit system is called the Chicago Transit Authority, also known as the CTA.
– The CTA includes both trains and buses.
– The rail system can also be referred to as the 'L' (for elevated).
– The CTA cash fare is $2.25 for adults.
For more information visit: www.transitchicago.com

Metra Rail

– Trains arrive and depart from Union Station, Ogilvie Transportation Center, La-Salle Station and Millennium Station
– Tickets can be purchased at the train stations or on the train for an additional fee.
– Fares are based on the length of the trip.

Taxi

– All Chicago taxis are licensed and recognizable by the numbered metal medallions attached to their roofs.
– Currently, the base Chicago taxi fare is $2.25 and increases $0.20 for each additional 1/9 of a mile (or 36 seconds).
– Average taxi cost to Hyatt Regency Hotel from Chicago O'Hare International Airport - $45
– Average taxi cost to Hyatt Regency Hotel from Chicago Midway Airport - $33
– Tips are accepted for good service.

Bicycle

Chicago is one of the most bicycle-friendly cities in the U.S. with more than 100 miles of bicycle lanes, 50 miles of bicycle paths and 10,000 bicycle racks.
